As the title indicates, this course focuses on the judicial process, more specifically, the American judicial process. We will pay primary attention to the United States Supreme Court because it is the most important of our courts and because more data and information are available about its activities and procedures. Most broadly, we will be concerned with what courts do, why, and how. To these ends, students will learn about courts as organizations, be able to point out differences among courts, and relate courts to the larger political system and the society of which they are a part.

TEXTS (ordered through U Bookstore and Iowa Book, 8 S. Clinton)

All but one of the following texts (required and recommended) have been ordered through the bookstores. In addition, all of these texts, and several others, have been placed on reserve at the library.

Required Texts (I'll talk more about all the texts the first day of class.)

Baum, The Supreme Court, 15th edition (11th through 14th will be fine)

Carp, Manning, Holmes, and Bowie Judicial Process in America, 13th edition (10th through 12th will be fine)

Gifis, Barron's Law Dictionary, 7th edition (5th or 6th edition or other law dictionary is okay)

Strunk and White, The Elements of Style, 4th edition

Recommended Texts

Rehnquist, The Supreme Court (revised and updated edition)

Segal, Spaeth, and Benesh, The Supreme Court in the American Legal System (not ordered at bookstores)

Woodward and Armstrong, The Brethren

"COURSEPACK" (available on ICON)

Handouts on the value systems of the justices, the citation form and general requirements for the paper assignment, tips on how to take my multiple choice tests, and an extensive set of study questions will be available on ICON.

ON RESERVE (Reserved Reading Room, Main Library)

All the books listed above, and several additional books, have been placed on reserve at the main library.

GRADING

Grades will be based on the following:

- Two multiple-choice exams (70%). The first exam (30%) is tentatively scheduled for Tuesday, October 13, and will cover material through the first part of Topic 3. The second exam (40%) will be during the regular final exam period, time and location to be determined later, and will primarily cover material from the first test on.
- A paper (30%). Specific details of the assignment will be given to you the class period following the first test, but no later than Thursday, October 15. Nevertheless, you should read Strunk and White and the Style Manual for My Courses (on ICON) as soon as possible. The Style Manual contains an extensive list of general requirements for the paper assignment. You should familiarize yourself with these requirements before the paper assignment is handed out. The paper will be due at the beginning of class on Thursday, November 12.

Based on your performance on the assignments (test and paper) you will be assigned a grade according to the following 100-point scale:

90 - 99 = A

87 - 89 = A-

84 - 86 = B+

80 - 83 = B

77 - 79 = B-

74 - 76 = C+

70 - 73 = C

67 - 69 = C-

64 - 66 = D+

60 - 63 = D

50 - 59 = D-

0 - 49 = F

A FINAL COMMENT

I have found that some students have a tendency to suffer in silence. By that I mean that they will not say anything to the instructor if they are having problems with a course. This does no one any good. If you have a problem with the course (readings, assignments, lectures, etc.) come and talk to me about it. I cannot explain procedures or try to correct problems if I do not know they exist. Waiting until course evaluations to voice your opinion will not help you, and probably not me.

Any changes to the information contained in this syllabus will be announced in class.

Continue to Part 2 (policy statements, etc.) of the syllabus.
